

SCOTT ASHLOCK, ASLA

Associate Principal

Scott's background in architecture and landscape architecture and his savvy technological skills make him well versed in the nuts and bolts of design. He is adept at tackling a variety of complex issues, but his passion lies with landscape architecture and how to address the natural and built environment, from large master-planned communities to specific site designs. Scott's interest in exploring communities led him across the nation and to Europe and the Mediterranean. He uses this experience to introduce new or different ways of problem solving for designs. He incorporates principles of Asian landscape design; drought-tolerant landscapes; California native plantings; and demonstration, educational, and healing gardens. His vigorous desire to expand his knowledge and the multifaceted perspective he gained from other cultures and cities make his approach to any project exciting and remarkable.

Scott's skill with Adobe Creative Suite, ArcGIS, AutoCAD, 3DS Max, and SketchUp has made him a "wearer of many hats." He also has extensive experience handling construction documents, planting plans, and site designs and has worked with contractors and crews to ensure that the design intent and vision of a project are captured. Scott develops creative design solutions and carries them forward from concept to project completion. For CEQA/NEPA documentation, he leads his group's efforts in Visual Impact Analysis, which consists of visual simulations and shade & shadow and light & glare analyses, with capabilities in drone photography and videography.
